The First Presbyterian Church of Dexter, New Mexico is seeking a pastor for transitional and permanent positions.

The “Little Grey Church” has served this small, agricultural community for generations. A church rich in tradition but welcoming in contemporary and different forms of worship and music has encouraged perspectives, groups and cultures to meld.

Faith, fellowship, community support and mission make the church the hub of the community. In the past few years, the church has built and paid for a new sanctuary. Youth of all ages are strongly supported. This is an active, caring, involved church.

We are looking for a person grounded in sound doctrine. A person who is caring and able to share love. Someone who is inclusive and welcoming to all ages, including youth and children. A person who has the ability to appreciate and enjoy living in a rural community. Someone who will serve and include the entire community and lead by example with energy, vitality and stamina. A person with a heart for mission and evangelism.
